What you could get at retirement

Your plan could be worth	Giving you a yearly income of	Or a monthly income of
£76,100	£5,390	£449

This is an example of what you might get if you turned your pension savings into a guaranteed income (annuity) – which would last for the rest of your life.

These figures were calculated on 31 July 2026 using general assumptions. They are in today's prices and are not guaranteed.

The rules we follow to estimate what you could get in retirement changed in October 2023. Find out more about this at standardlife.co.uk/assumptions.

What your plan could be worth

Based on your average regular payments over the last 12 months, we've used a monthly amount of £879.37. We've assumed:

- payments will rise with salary increases
- your salary will increase 2.5% every year
- there'll be no more payments after 19 June 2031

We've based our figures on your current investments and how we think they're likely to perform. See 'How we think your plan could grow' later in the pack for more details.

What actually happens may be different to what we've assumed.

What we've assumed about your income

- your annuity payments won't increase
- your annuity won't be paid to any dependant on your death
- if you die within the first five years – we'll continue to pay the annuity until the end of the five year period
- you've not taken any tax-free cash

Annuity rates may vary so the actual annuity income could be higher or lower than shown.

Your retirement date:
19 June 2031,
age 65

This is the retirement date we have for you and the figures shown have been projected to that date.

There are different options available at retirement and you don't have to buy an annuity.

How to give yourself more money in retirement

Help boost your pension savings – even a small increase could make a big difference and it's tax efficient standardlife.co.uk/taxandpensions

If you pay an extra	£0 monthly	£50 monthly	£100 monthly

Your plan may be worth	£76,100	£78,900	£81,800

Give your pension pot more time to grow – you don't have to take your money on your retirement date. Leave your pension invested with the potential to grow.

Check your other pensions – if you have pension plans elsewhere, you could bring them together and have all your money in one place so it's easy to manage. Keep in mind that transferring may not be right for everyone.

Search for a lost pension at pension tracing service at gov.uk/find-pension-contact-details

Check how much State Pension you could get at gov.uk/check-state-pension

Use our tools and calculators at standardlife.co.uk/retirement/tools

We've used the same assumptions as above – but assumed that the extra £50 or £100 a month won't increase.

If you pay more into your pension your employer may pay in more too. Contact your employer to find out more about 'contribution matching'.

Any discount you have could also apply to any transferred plans.To find out more about your discount, log in to standardlife.co.uk

How your plan is invested

This table shows the value of your funds on 31 July 2026, so you can see where your money is invested.

You're invested in a lifestyle profile, which means we'll automatically and gradually move your money into funds that are usually lower risk as you get closer to retirement. So, by the time you reach retirement, your money's invested in a way that supports how you might plan to take your pension savings.

About these figures

We show the charges before any discount to make it easier to compare your funds.

'How your funds have performed' in the table above shows the total amount, as a percentage, that a fund has gained or lost over a particular time period. This data is sourced from Financial Express Limited ©. Financial Express Limited ("FE"). All rights reserved.

Past performance is not a guide for future performance. You'll usually be saving into pension for many years, so be careful not to base all your decisions on performance over the short term.

The value of investments can go down as well as up and you could get back less than was paid in. Charges can vary over time.

Things to think about

Leaving your pension savings to your loved ones

Pensions can be a tax efficient way to save your money and leave it to your loved ones. It's important to tell us who or where you want your money to go to on your death, so that we can take this into account when deciding who to pay your pension savings to. These are known as your 'beneficiaries'.

If you don't have a nominated beneficiary in place, why not do it now? Find out more at standardlife.co.uk/beneficiaries.

Log in to update or add your beneficiaries at standardlife.co.uk/login

We're supporting a sustainable future as well as looking after your savings

We're working towards a more sustainable way of investing. For the latest information about what we're doing and our fund climate report, go to standardlife.co.uk/fund-climate-report.

Costs and charges

All pension plans come with costs and charges. It's important to be aware of all the costs and charges that impact your plan.

Over the last year the total impact of costs and charges on your plan was £38.98.

This is made up of:

Fund management charge – the charge we take for managing the funds you're invested in and for the administration of your plan

Additional expenses – costs of holding assets in the funds

Fund transaction costs – costs from trading assets to meet the fund objective

Costs and charges can vary over time.

You can get more information online at standardlife.co.uk/charges

or speak to your adviser.

How we think your plan could grow

Here are more details about the figures we gave you in your yearly statement.

What you could get back at retirement

Your plan could be worth

£76,100

We've based this figure on your current investments, what we think will be paid in and your retirement date.

We've assumed:

- your investments will grow at 1.5% each year - this growth rate has already been reduced by 2.5% to allow for the effect of inflation
- future charges and discounts won't change

The actual investment performance and charges may differ from these assumptions.

The value of investments can go down as well as up and may be worth less than was paid in.

What happens to your pension plan if you die

We'll use it to provide benefits for your beneficiaries – a lump sum, pension or combination of both, depending on what the rules of your pension scheme allow.

Ensuring you get value for money

Standard Life has an Independent Governance Committee (IGC) which acts solely in your interests. The IGC aims to ensure workplace personal pension schemes deliver value for money for members. The IGC will raise any concerns it might have with Standard Life on any aspect of what Standard Life is delivering for you.

Its work includes reviewing administration charges and transaction costs applied to the funds in which your money is invested. The outcome of the review is included in the IGC's annual report.

You will find information on the range of costs and charges applied to all the funds that you can invest in by visiting standardlife.co.uk/igc-cost-and-charges. This also gives example illustrations to show the effect charges may have on your pension over time. You will also find more information about the IGC and its annual report.

To compare these costs and charges against those that you are paying we recommend that you log into your online services.

The IGC represents you and is keen to hear what value for money means to you or about any concerns you may have with your Standard Life pension. Please get in touch by emailing IGC@thephoenixgroup.com.

Limits and allowances

The annual allowance is the most you can pay into your pension plans each tax year without paying tax. You can find out more and check the current limits online at standardlife.co.uk/pension-annual-allowance

There are also limits on how much of your pension savings you can take tax-free. You can get more information and check the current limits online at standardlife.co.uk/lump-sum-allowances

Normal Minimum Pension Age increase

From 6th April 2028 the Normal Minimum Pension Age (NMPA) will increase from 55 to 57.

This is the earliest age that you can normally access your pension savings and is set by the government. It may be possible to take money earlier than the NMPA from your pension under certain circumstances, for example if you are suffering from ill health or have a protected pension age.
